

WHEN Sheriff Childers, of Lawrence county, shuffles off this mortal coil, his constituents should erect a monument 400 feet high with a coon skin on top, to his memory. He makes the following announcement in connection with his tax notice:

"I will receive on taxes, hogs, speyed sows and barrows, nice straight yearlings, steers and heifers from 1 to 5 years old. All are to be delivered to me at Powhatan between March 1 and April 1, 1897. I will also receive furs from January 13 to April 1, in any part of the county. I will allow market prices."

The taxpayers of Lawrence will evidently experience no difficulty in settling with the collector.
